POWERING POTENTIAL

AGILE ROLES

OBJECTIVES

To understand the roles people take in an Agile Project

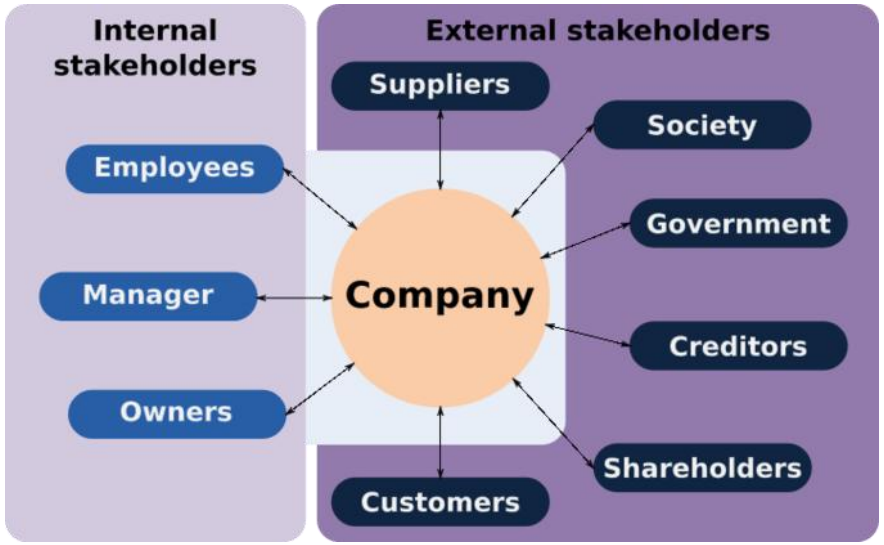
- Stakeholder
- Project manager
- Product Owner
- Business Analyst
- Scrum Master
- Development Team

THE STAKEHOLDER

A stakeholder is anyone with an interest in or an influence on the product.

Should be contactable by the development team to help them to understand what is required.

They should attend the Sprint review meeting



own Author is
Y-SA

PRODUCT OWNER

PO is the sole person responsible for managing the product backlog (list of features to be worked on).

They communicate with the stakeholders to ensure requiremnets are added to the product backlog

They attend the Sprint planning meeting and Sprint review meeting

MORE ABOUT THE PRODUCT OWNER

1. DEFINING THE VISION

2. PRODUCT BACKLOG MANAGEMENT

3. PRIORITIZING NEEDS

4. OVERSEEING DEVELOPMENT STAGES

5. ANTICIPATING CLIENT NEEDS

7. EVALUATING PRODUCT PROGRESS AT EACH ITERATION

- Works with company Chief
- Customer support
- Users and customers
- Product Manager
- Scrum Master
- Development team
- Marketing and sales

PROJECT MANAGER

Manage projects and will overview expenses.

Try to reduce risk on the project.

Can also manage more than one project at a time.

BUSINESS ANALYST (BA)

Supports the product owner by gathering requirements and providing guidance on what to build.

They usually work across many products.

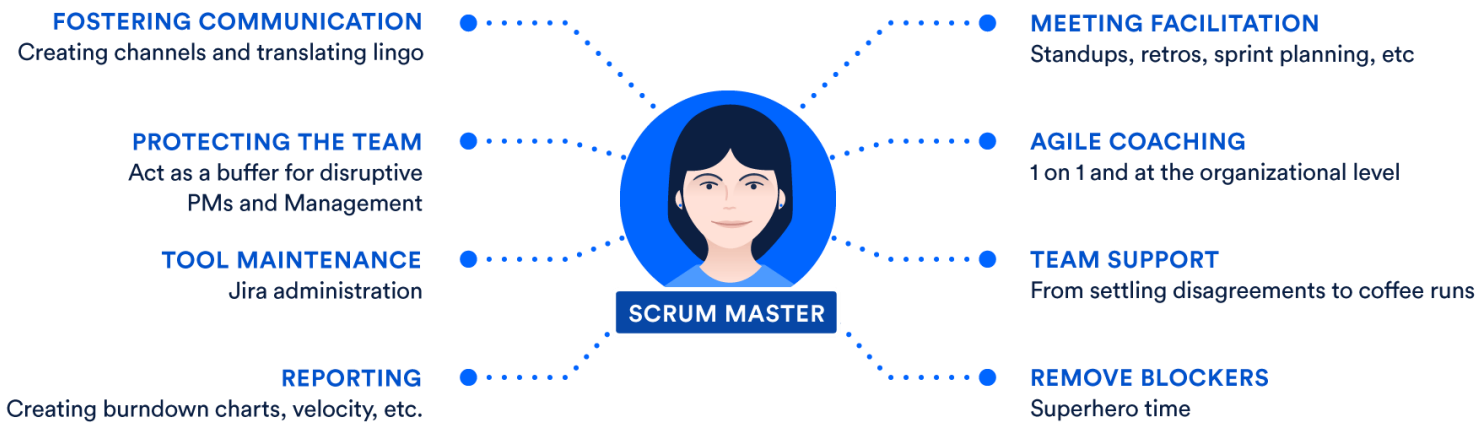
SCRUM MASTER (SM)

Helps those outside the scrum team understand which interactions are beneficial.

Help find techniques with effective Product Goal definition and Product Backlog management

Supports the development team by removing impediments, facilitating meetings and coaching self-organisation

Attends the Sprint planning, Daily stand up, Sprint review and the Sprint Retrospective meetings



https://www.atlassian.com/agile/scrum/scrum-master

DEVELOPMENT TEAM

A multi-disciplinary development team usually consists of software architects, designers, programmers and testers.

This is a self organising team.
They decide how to tackle the items in the sprint backlog.

People with other skillsets can be added to the team when required.

Attend the Sprint planning, Daily stand up,
Sprint review and the Sprint Retrospective meetings

REVIEW

You now understand the following roles within an Agile project

- Stakeholder
- Project manager
- Product Owner
- Business Analyst
- Scrum Master
- Development Team

LAB

Complete Lab4.

Duration 20 minutes